LABOR MARKET STATISTICS
For
Clatsop County

- Basic Physical and Economic Character -

Located in the northwest corner of Oregon, Clatsop County is bounded on the north by the Columbia River and on the west by the Pacific Ocean. It is approximately 30 miles square and has a land area of 525,475 acres. The Coast Range extends from north to south through the county and, characteristic of most of the area along this range, the topography is very broken. Differences in elevation are not extreme but occur with great frequency and abruptness. The highest point in the county is the summit of Saddle Mountain with an altitude of 3,266 feet.

Climatic conditions vary moderately over the county. There is a greater range in seasonal temperatures and less rainfall in the interior than in the coastal section.

According to the Bureau of the Census, the population of Clatsop County was 24,697 in 1940. Astoria, the principal city and county seat, had 10,389 inhabitants, and Seaside, the second largest town, 2,902. Estimates of Clatsop County's 1948 (the most recent estimates) population vary from 31,700 by the State Department of Health to 36,800 by the University of Oregon. At the most conservative estimate, Clatsop County's population would have increased about 28 percent since 1940, while at the higher estimate around 49 percent. Astoria is estimated to have between 15,000 and 16,000 inhabitants at the present time.

The average annual covered* employment in Clatsop County increased about 28 percent between 1940 and 1948. This would be at about the same rate as the low population estimate.

It is estimated that the number of unemployed decreased from the peak January 1, 1950 figure of 3,600 to approximately 2,600 by March 1, 1950. This decline in unemployment should continue steadily throughout the next six to eight months, but work opportunities for all of Clatsop County's labor force seems unlikely during the coming season, unless new industries are developed.

Unemployment in Clatsop County is seasonal in nature, with the low period being registered during the summer months and high periods during the winter. This is due to the highly seasonal nature of Clatsop County's basic industries. The lumber and wood products industry, fish canneries, and recreational industry all follow parallel employment trends, causing large numbers of workers to be laid off at approximately the same time of the year.

At the first part of March of 1950, in the lumber and wood products industry, sawmills were operating at nearly full production, with little prospects of increased employment opportunities. Most logging operations were able to resume during February, but a few are waiting for snow to melt or roads to improve.

Employment in the lumber and wood products industry in 1947 and 1948 was down from the 1936 through 1942 period, but up slightly over the 1943 through 1946 period. Clatsop County was among the leaders in log production from the start of the industry. The nearness of its forests to tidewater, providing cheap transportation, and the fine quality of its timber, assuring a product of high market value, were the major factors contributing to continuous heavy cutting. For the period 1925 to 1936, inclusive, the average annual production of sawlogs in the county was about 386 million board feet. During this period, Clatsop County outranked all counties in the state in volume production. In 1945 log production in the county had dropped to around 215 million board feet and to 172 million in 1946. Log production in 1947, the latest available data, was around 240 million board feet, well below the 386 million board feet annual average for the 1925 through 1936 period.

As of January 1, 1947, the saw timber volume of Clatsop County was estimated at 5,074 million board feet, about 90 percent of which was privately owned and the remainder owned by the county. This county ownership is increasing. Over half of the 5,074 million board feet was Western hemlock, with about 762 million board feet of Sitka spruce, 692 million board feet of Douglas fir, and 532 million board feet of Balsam firs.

The gravity of the situation in the lumber and wood products industry is not only loss of employment, but the situation developing from the removal of much of the county's merchantable timber.

Employment in the food and kindred products industry has kept pace with the industrial growth of the county since 1936. From an average annual covered employment of 765 in 1936, covered employment has risen in 1948 to 2,165. Now ranking in importance to the lumber and wood products industry in Clatsop County is the fish processing industry. The increase in employment in the food and kindred products industry was caused primarily by the fish processing growth.

Agricultural development of Clatsop County is confined to the narrow river valleys and the small alluvial benches along the Columbia and near the mouths of Youngs and the Lewis and Clark rivers. According to the United States Census of Agriculture, in Clatsop County there were 1,473 farm workers in 1945, with 63,432 acres in farms valued at about six million dollars.

Civilian employment in military establishments in Clatsop County during the war totaled between 900 and 1,000, of which the Tongue Point Base and Airfield employed around 400, the Engineer Corp 230, the Quartermasters Corp around 100, and the Post Engineers another 200. Immediately following the war, employment in the Tongue Point Base fell to 340 and the Engineer Corp to around 30, with no civilian employment in the Quartermasters Corp or the Post Engineers, however, during this period, (1947) some 250 were employed in ship repair. At present, the Tongue Point Naval Base employs about 290 people; the Airfield is now inactive. The Engineer Corp employs another 16.

The principal effects on the withdrawal of civilian employment from the military establishments in Clatsop County, or 600 out of a total labor force of about 13,600, appears to be in retail trade. Local rental housing does not seem very much affected, nor does the housing in the towns of Hammond and Warrenton which were jammed during the early war construction period. Many dwellings in use at that time seem quite substandard at present, with little use at their present state for peacetime occupation.

The ocean beaches, rivers, and forests of Clatsop County offer many opportunities for recreation. The resorts at Seaside, Cannon Beach, Gearhart, and other beaches bring thousands of recreationists into the county each season. Sport fishing in the Columbia River attracts many sportsmen.

NATURE AND LIMITATIONS OF COVERED EMPLOYMENT & PAYROLL DATA

Nature of Data

"Clatsop County Employment and Payrolls in Covered Industries" is based on the Employer's contribution reports submitted quarterly to the Commission by employers subject to the Oregon Unemployment Compensation Act. These reports show employment for the payroll period nearest the 15th of the month and total wages for the calendar quarter.

Since 1936, three different methods of reporting the number of covered workers have been in effect. Beginning January 1, 1945, employers have been reporting the number of covered workers employed in the last pay periods of all types ending nearest the 15th of the month.

From July 1, 1939, to January 1, 1945, employers reported the number of workers employed in the last pay period of all types ending in each month.

Prior to July 1, 1939 all workers on employers payrolls during each month are shown on the tables. In industries with a high turnover, such as construction, food processing and logging this earlier method of reporting shows a larger number of workers than the other two methods of reporting would have shown. In more stable industries having low turnover rates, the number of employees reported was not materially changed.

Industry Classifications

Employment and Payroll data for 1947, and subsequent years in the manufacturing industries is classified according to the Standard Industrial Classification Manual of 1945. The non-manufacturing industries are classified according to the 1942 edition of the Social Security Board Industrial Classification Code. Both the manufacturing and non-manufacturing data for 1946 and prior years are classified on the basis of the 1942 Social Security Board Industrial Classification Code. These codes set up ten "industry divisions", one being "government" with no subject employment. These divisions are subclassified into 77 "major industry groups" each of which is identified by a two digit code.

Comparability and Limitations of Data

Because coverage under the Oregon Unemployment Compensation law differs from coverage under other Federal and State laws, published data will not necessarily agree with data published by other Federal and State agencies.

This report is limited to data reported by employers subject to the Oregon Unemployment Compensation laws under provisions requiring coverage of employers hiring 4 or more workers in subject employment in any six weeks in a quarter in which the payroll amounted to $500 or more.

From March 11, 1937 to May 5, 1949, any employer who hired four or more workers in subject employment on any day during a calendar quarter in which his total payroll amounted to at least $500 was required to report to the Commission. Prior to March 11, 1937, an employer became subject to the law by hiring four or more workers for twenty weeks in a year.

In addition to those employed in small establishments the following types of employment are not subject to the Unemployment Compensation law and are excluded from the employment and payroll summaries:

- (1) Agricultural Labor
- (2) Domestic Service in a private home (and since January 1, 1941, in a sorority or fraternity).
- (3) Casual labor not in the course of an employer's trade or business.
- (4) Service performed as an officer or member of the crew of any sea going vessel, primarily engaged in inter-state, or foreign, or ocean, or high seas navigation. (Officers and crews of vessels engaged in inland navigation on the Willamette and Columbia Rivers have been covered since March 1, 1945).
- (5) Service performed by a person in the employ of a son, daughter or spouse, and service performed by a child under the age of 21 in the employ of his father or mother.
- (6) Service performed for any Federal, State or local Government or Agency.
- (7) Service performed for non-profit charitable, religious, and scientific organizations.
- (8) Service performed after June 30, 1939 for inter-state railroads. (Coverage of inter-state railroad workers were transferred to the Railroad Retirement Board at this time. For purposes of this report, inter-state railroad workers were excluded from the quarterly summaries previous to June 30, 1939).
- (9) Service performed by an individual in the delivery or distribution of newspaper or shopping news (not including delivery or distribution to any point for subsequent delivery or distribution).
- (10) Service prior to January 1, 1940, for a National Bank.
- (11) Service performed after June 15, 1945, by a real estate broker, real estate salesman, real estate agent, insurance agent, or insurance solicitor to the extent that he is compensated by commission.
- (12) Service performed after July 5, 1947, by an individual or partnership in the distribution of petroleum products with remuneration for service primarily consisting of the difference between the amount he pays or is obligated to pay for the petroleum products and the amount he receives.
